

Quote of the month

„According to the MOVING flash poll of about 950 driving schools, the driving school industry expects a huge training backlog (35.5%) in the event of a new lockdown. This circumstance could be accompanied by high revenue losses (28.1%) and the return of short-time work in the industry (26.7%).“

Jörg-Michael Satz, President of MOVING International Road Safety Association e. V.

What would another closure mean for your driving school?

Source: Moving flash poll

