

Quote of the month

“In January 2025, the average driving school fleet comprised 6.5 cars - slightly fewer than in the previous year (2024: 6.7 vehicles on average). Of these, an average of 3.1 vehicles, i.e. around 48%, had an automatic transmission. According to our representative survey, at 2.6 years on average, these are slightly younger than the manual vehicles, which are 3 years old on average.”
